Eddie, a founding shareholder of the firm, works almost exclusively in taxation, specializing primarily in tax planning. He devotes his energies to working with client tax situations that require big picture planning to achieve long-term tax savings. So if you have a “what if” tax situation, then Eddie is the one to see. In addition, Eddie provides business coaching and consulting services, working with select clients to improve cash flow and profits. He also assists businesses with financing.

Eddie has been involved with several clients in the process of selling their businesses and the “due diligence process” involved as a part of the sale. The sales prices of the businesses involved ranged from several hundred thousand dollars to over 50 million dollars.

Eddie is a graduate of the Georgia Institute of Technology in Atlanta, Georgia. He was a partner with Davis, Monk and Farnsworth & Company before forming the firm of Douglas, Douglas & Farnsworth in 1991 along with Lora Douglas and the late Pat Farnsworth. The Fleming Island location was opened in 2000.
